Comptroller Lierman to Speak at Opening Breakfast for MML Summer Conference in Ocean City

Comptroller also to attend Worcester County Commissioners meeting in Snow Hill, meet Berlin Mayor and tour downtown businesses

WHO: Comptroller Brooke Lierman

WHAT: Comptroller Brooke Lierman will speak at the Opening Breakfast of the Maryland Municipal League's annual Summer Conference Monday morning at the Ocean City Convention Center. The Comptroller will share her experiences during her first six months as the state's chief fiscal officer, her accomplishments this past legislative session and her efforts to transform the agency's technology to better serve Marylanders. Ocean City Mayor Rick Meehan will give the welcome.

The Comptroller then will travel to Snow Hill, where she will meet with the Worcester County Commissioners. The Comptroller will discuss her new role and how the agency plans to work together with its county partners, business leaders, and community stakeholders.

In the afternoon, Comptroller Lierman will travel to Berlin, where she will meet Mayor Zachary Tyndall and Councilmembers Steve Green and Jay Knerr at the Berlin Town Hall and take a walking tour of four local businesses. The Comptroller will explore the world's first Mermaid Museum, owned by artist and photographer Alyssa Maloof. Next, the Comptroller will see historic buildings dating to the 1800s under revitalization by owner Jack Burbage. Mr. Burbage and his family have deep roots in Berlin's development. Then, the Comptroller will head to Island Creamery, owned by Drew and Jen Conklin, to sample one of summer's refreshing delights. And lastly, she will visit The Inn Berlin, a two-centuries-old, woman- and minority-owned property, run by innkeeper Maya Tomasello.
